SOTOYOME OF FOR UMPGUA

German Tramp Eva Due Here Today—Will Await Charter At Astoria—Elder Down And Out For Bay City Odds And Ends.

The steamer Nome City arrived down from Portland yesterday with 800,000 feet of lumber on board and fourteen passengers for San Francisco, and among the latter was the devoted wife of Captain C. M. Forest, late of the schooner Annie Larsen. Mrs. Forest will go to the Oakland home and put all things in order and good hands, and will then return to Salem, where she will dwell and minister to her unhappy husband during such time as he shall remain in the state's prison. Mrs. Forest has made a world of good friends in Astoria during the trial and trouble of the old captain, and all wish for the couple an early reunion and subsequent peace and happiness.

The American ship St. Nicholas, Berlin and John Currier, are all at anchor in the lower harbor ready for sea and Nushagak Bay; the St. Nicholas with 192 souls on board, including Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Belland; the Berlin with 184 people on her decks and in her cabins; and the John Currier with 153 folks of several nations on board. They are stored and equipped for the northern season in the usual generous style, and will get away on the first tow-lines that offer today. Manager P. A. Berglund will go to his distant post on the steamer North Star in about a week later, and will overtake and pass his ship, the Currier, en route. All have cleared at the custom house.

The motor schooner Sotoyome, Captain Christiansen, was hauled into the stream from the O. R. & N. pier yesterday, in order to keep her crew on board and sober. The master returned from the metropolis yesterday morning with five able seamen, out of the nine he went after. She cleared at the custom house yesterday with 3,200 barrels of Southern Pacific cement.

The steamer Costa Rica arrived at the O. R. & N. dock at 11 o'clock last evening and after unloading the freight and passengers, she left three hours later, bound up the river for the metropolis. She reported sighting two sailing vessels eight miles south of the lightship that had the appearance of schooners. Also that she passed the oil steamer Asunson in company with two other steamers, at the lightship. If bound for this port they ought to be off the mouth of the river this morning.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder came down from Portland yesterday morning, apparently, 24 hours before her advertised time for sailing. She had a big group of passengers on board for the Bay City, among whom was C. P. Doe, her managing agent at Portland, who is making the round trip on her this time.

The schooner Mabel Gale entered port yesterday afternoon late just in time to catch the Oklahoma. She comes from San Francisco and will load lumber for the return trip.

The steamer Sue H. Elmore entered this port from Tillamook Bay yesterday, and brought up a hold-full of dairy merchandise, and several passengers.

The French bark Leo XIII, grain laden for Europe, arrived down yesterday afternoon on the hawsers of the steamer Oklahoma, and will leave out today.

The big German tramp steamship Eva, from Europe via San Francisco, is due in this port today, and will remain here until she secures a charter.

The steamer Harvest Queen went up yesterday with a big load of new salmon. There was nothing in the harbor for her tow lines yesterday.

The seamer Costa Rica was due here yesterday from San Francisco, but failed to show up. She will probably enter this morning.

The Kamm steamer Lurline got down a little late last night, but it did not interfere with the bulk of her business any.

The steamer Tiverton is loading lumber at the Tongue Point Mills for San Francisco.

A FAIR PROPOSITION.

Tom Richardson and Portland Take The Proper View Of It.

Yesterday's Oregonian contains the following clever bit of expression, apropos of an important matter: "Until the Astoria Chamber of Commerce communicates its wishes as to Portland participating in the entertainment of Vice President Fairbanks, the Portland Commercial Club will take no steps in that direction. The Vice-President has accepted an invitation from the business men of Astoria to be their guest on the occasion of his visit to the Coast to attend the National convention of the Christian Endeavor Society at Seattle."

"Tom Richardson, manager of the Commercial Club, said yesterday that though Portland would like to entertain Mr. Fairbanks on his way to and from Astoria, it would depend entirely upon the wishes of the Astoria people. He added that Portland has no desire to interfere or 'butt in' when sister cities have undertaken to entertain prominent people."

"To extend an invitation at this time to Mr. Fairbanks without first obtaining from Astoria an expression of their wishes would be, he said, unfair to a neighbor."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Lawrence Sloper, of Walla Walla, arrived here yesterday, on a visit of several weeks with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Judah.

E. J. Collings, the well known merchant of Ilwaco, passed through this city yesterday, for Portland, where he will meet and return with his wife and family who have been spending some time there with friends.

Mrs. W. E. McAfee was a Portland bound passenger on the 8:30 express yesterday morning. She will visit friends in the metropolis for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Catlin, of Portland, are visiting in Astoria.

Osborne Goulter, of Oysterville, is looking after business interests in the city.

Jame M. Alexander, of Aberdeen, is stopping at the Occident.

C. A. Belknap, of Chinook, is attending to personal matters in the city.

J. M. Day, of Portland, came down on the night train last evening.

T. J. Hutchings, of San Francisco, is in Astoria canvassing the business situation.

Rebekah Meeting.

Gateway Rebekah Lodge No. 77, will meet in regular session this evening. Members of staff be present. Mamie Clinton, Secretary.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It makes all the difference in the world to the convivial man where, and what, he drinks. Most men desire beauty and cleanliness, and handsome appointments in the saloon they patronize regularly, as well as the essential pre-requisite of genuine wines and liquors that are served to them. And these things are so particularly and properly conspicuous at Otto Sund's elegant resort, the Commercial, at No. 509 on the street of that name that they account thoroughly for the fixed and splendid custom he enjoys. There is nothing allowed to pass his counter but the best and choicest in every department of indulgence, and the service behind it all, is the most pleasing and satisfying in the city.
